

Remember, Remember the 5th of November;
Gunpowder, Treason and Plot

Bonfire Night is an old British tradition dating back to 1605. It celebrates the discovery and thwarting of a plot by English Catholics to blow up The Houses of Parliament in London.

The leader of the Gunpowder Plot, as it became known, was Guy Fawkes and effigies of him continue to be burnt on Bonfires thorough Britain every November 5th.

We would love to see pictures of your Bonfire Night celebrations, please share them via our social media accounts.

Is your usual Fireworks Display cancelled this year? Consider donating the money you would have spent to the PTFA to enrich and support the education of pupils at All Saints Primary School, Alrewas.
