Code of Conduct for Governors

September 2020

This Code of Conduct sets out the behaviour, expectations and conduct expected of school governors, trustees and academy members. It is expected that all governors will know, understand and work within the prescribed regulatory framework.

They must comply with the updated General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) 2018.

Once approved this code will apply to all who govern within the organisation.

This code should be read in conjunction with the relevant law. It should be adapted as appropriate depending on the governance setting and level of delegation. However, its guiding principles should be retained regardless of the governance setting and level of delegation afforded to it.

The Board

The Board is legally responsible for the conduct of the school with a view to promoting high standards of educational achievement. It may delegate responsibilities to Local Governing Boards of Committees through a scheme of delegation.

The purpose of governance at all levels is to provide confident, strategic leadership and to create robust accountability, oversight and assurance for educational and financial performance.

Core Functions of the Board Including Local GBs

1. Ensuring clarity of vision, ethos and strategic direction

It is the job of the Governing Board (GB) to:

- Set a clear and explicit vision.
- Ensure strong and clear values and ethos are defined and modelled by the board.
- Set the school's strategic framework, defining medium to long-term goals and processes to monitor and review progress.
- Ensure mechanisms are in place for the board to listen, understand and respond to the voices of parents, pupils, staff and the local community.

2. Holding the headteacher to account for the educational performance of the organisation and its pupils, and the performance management of staff

This will take place through:

- A rigorous analysis of pupil progress and attainment.
- Clear processes for overseeing and monitoring school improvement.
- A transparent system for the performance management of the headteacher
- Effective oversight of the performance of all other employees.
- A regular cycle of meetings.

3. Ensuring the sound, proper and effective use of the school's financial resources

The GB is responsible for making sure the school's money is well spent with effective controls for managing it. They should do this by ensuring they have at least one Governor with specific skills and experience of financial matters, but everyone on the board should have a basic understanding of the financial cycle and legal requirements.

The GB should play a strategic role and leave the running of the school to the Headteacher they have appointed. The GB must not interfere in the day-to-day (operational) running of the school.

Ways of Working

- The way the board operates and organises itself should be kept under review.
- The board should consider how to use their powers to delegate functions and decisions to committees or individual governors.
- The board must review the scheme of delegation, terms of reference, constitution and membership of any committee of annually.
- The board must meet at least three times a year.
- Headteachers and chairs should work together to ensure that meetings are well planned at appropriate intervals and that agendas are fit for purpose.
- The GB must appoint a Clerk to Governors to advise them on the nature of their functions and duties and ensure the GB operates efficiently and effectively.

The Headteacher

- The headteacher's responsibilities include the internal organisation, management and control of the school and the educational performance of the school.
- The headteacher will deliver the aims of the GB through the day-to-day management of the school, implementation of the agreed policy framework and school improvement strategy and the delivery of the curriculum.

- It is the headteacher's legal duty to provide the GB with all the information they need to do their job well. This means they should help the GB access the data published by the DfE and Ofsted. They should also provide regularly a wide range of other management information so that the GB can monitor different aspects of life in the school throughout the year.
- The headteacher must comply with any reasonable direction of the GB
- The headteacher is accountable to the GB for the performance of all his or her responsibilities.

The Chair

- The GB must appoint a Chair of Governors (COG) to lead and manage the GB
- The COG plays a crucial role in setting the culture of the GB
- The COG may only make decisions or act on behalf of the GB if:
 - The GB have delegated that decision to the Chair of Governors
 - The COG is of the opinion that a delay in exercising a function would be detrimental to the school, anyone who works at the school or any pupil at the school or their parent.
- The COG is the principle link between the GB and the Headteacher. The Headteacher and Chair should meet regularly at mutually convenient times to discuss school matters and the Chair should be a critical friend by offering support, challenge and encouragement.
- The COG works with the clerk to set GB agendas and approves draft minutes of GB meetings.

The Vice-Chair

In the absence of a COG, the Vice-Chair (VCOG) will take on that role.

Chairs of Committees

Chairs of committees work with the Clerk to set committee meeting agendas and approve draft minutes for those meetings. They have responsibility for ensuring that if a function of the GB has been delegated to the committee or a function of the GB has otherwise been exercised by the committee, it is reported to the GB.

Governors

In law, the GB is a corporate body, which means that no governor can act on her/his own without proper authority from the GB. All governors carry equal responsibility for decisions. If a function of the GB has been delegated to an individual, the individual must report to the GB in respect of any action taken or decision made.

The overriding concern of all governors has to be the welfare of the school as a whole, regardless of the route by which they were appointed and the type of governor they are i.e. Staff, Parent, Community, Local Authority, Foundation, Co-opted.

For GBs to carry out their role effectively, governors must be prepared and equipped to take their responsibilities seriously. They should:

- Be committed to improving education and welfare for all pupils.
- Prepare for meetings by reading papers beforehand.
- Ask questions to clarify understanding and gain assurances.
- Make every effort to attend meetings promptly, regularly and for the full time.
- Take responsibility for their own learning, training and development as a Governor.

In addition, they should:

- Work as a member of a team at all times and be loyal to collective decisions made by the GB.
- Recognise that all governors have the same rights.
- Act in the best interests of the school at all times.
- Not do anything that might undermine the GB's statutory requirement to promote community cohesion.
- Promote British Values with particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in the Equality Act 2010
- Respect confidentiality.
- Listen to and respect the views of others.
- Express their own views clearly and succinctly.
- Declare any conflicts of interest.
- Take their fair share of work/positions of responsibility.
- Know, understand and work within the prescribed regulatory framework.
- Report any evidence of fraud, corruption or misconduct to an appropriate person or Authority.
- Adhere to the seven principles of public life (below) originally published by the Nolan Committee.
- Ensure that communication undertaken via social networking sites is comparable to one to one interaction, meaning that all aspects of this code of conduct are taken account of when posting information, messages, pictures or video footage on-line.

- [Schools to add in any specific expectations with regard to their own organisation here]

The Nolan Seven Principles of Public Life and the Framework of Ethical Leadership

As recommended by the Committee on Standards in Public Life established by the then Prime Minister in October 1994, under the Chairmanship of Lord Nolan, to consider standards of conduct in various areas of public life.

1. Selflessness - Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends.
2. Integrity - Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.
3. Objectivity - In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.
4. Accountability - Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.
5. Openness - Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the wider public interest clearly demands.
6. Honesty - Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.
7. Leadership - Holders of public office should promote and support these principles by leadership and example.

The Framework for Ethical Leadership in Education

The Ethical Leadership Commission has developed the following Framework for Ethical Leadership to help school leaders take difficult decisions. As important as the language is, these aren't just fine words, they are meant to support a culture in which ethical decision making can flourish.

1. Selflessness: School and college leaders should act solely in the interest of children and young people.
2. Integrity: School and college leaders must avoid placing themselves under any obligation to people or organisations that might try inappropriately to influence them in their work. Before acting and taking decisions, they must declare and resolve openly any perceived conflict of interest and relationships.

3. Objectivity: School and college leaders must act and take decisions impartially and fairly, using the best evidence and without discrimination or bias. Leaders should be dispassionate, exercising judgement and analysis for the good of children and young people.

4. Accountability: School and college leaders are accountable to the public for their decisions and actions and must submit themselves to the scrutiny necessary to ensure this.

5. Openness: School and college leaders should expect to act and take decisions in an open and transparent manner. Information should not be withheld from scrutiny unless there are clear and lawful reasons for so doing.

6. Honesty: School and college leaders should be truthful.

7. Leadership: School and college leaders should exhibit these principles in their own behaviour. They should actively promote and robustly support the principles and be willing to challenge poor behaviour wherever it occurs. Leaders include both those who are paid to lead schools and colleges and those who volunteer to govern them
